THE MAKING OF WOODEN WARE

The oldest and most popular cottage industry in Slovenia is making of wooden objects, daily used in individual household and husbandries. Can you imagine a homestead without a spoon, ladle, pail, rake or anyone of the hundreds wooden objects, that with time acquired the name of wooden ware. The cottage wood industry was still flourishing in the regions from Ljubljansko barje to Kolpa, in the Inland and Upper Carniola, up to the end of the last century. The fast industrial development of the 20 century has checked the cottage industry, which has nevertheless been preserved in the densely populated and woodland regions of Ribnica valley, Slemen, Velike Lašče all the way to Rob and Krvava Peč, and eastward in Suha Krajina, specially round Dobropolje First written records of wooden ware date from 14th century, in a fair document from Lož. It is also mentioned in the permission given by cesar Frederik III in 1492 to the people of Ribnica to export cattle, linen and various wooden objects, hazel hoops and pine rims, to Croatia and other neighbouring countries. The wood becomes an important source for survival of small farmes on arid lands. However not in the sense of today's tree falling and processing, but in investing so much working capital ingenuity, that the value of the wooded surfaces is raised to the highest possible worth. Even the smallest wood estates are exploited: from pine logs to hazel and dogwood bushes, from maple, ash and cherry trees to withe by the water. The making of wooden ware is uniformly divided among all family members, the farmer, wife and children, including the old woman, who sitting by the table, turns the knife and makes toothpicks. The well known diligence and ingenuity were not present only at home, but also at the sales far across the bounderies of the country, as wooden were is closely connected with peddlery. Besides the tradicional objects, the cottage wood industry today makes wooden packings and pallets for industrial use, as well as many miniatur articles for the ever growing tourism. Along with spoons and ladles, wooden pincers, salt cellars, wooden plates, painted kegs are in great demand. The cold factory made plastic articles that conquered the world after the war, are already being pushed out of homes in the developed countries, by warm, hand made ornamental and applicable wooden ware.
